Editorial

The printer has not run out of PMS 505, but for this issue only I have decided to use black for the benefit of the black and white entries in the photo competition - it's a pity that cost prohibits full colour. On the facing page are photos taken by Christine of committee members - Jennifer Mack being assisted by Paul Stevens and Peter Taylor and Jane Stevens cutting the cake. The top picture shows returning crews from the mornings sail keeping their footwear dry!

I have given space to nearly all of the photo competition entries which I am sure you will agree are excellent. This has put pressure elsewhere but I must give the Chairman his requested dose of the 'Incompetent Idiot' stories from my 'old friend Robert McMurray. Christine has supplied yet another good 'From the Yard'. All work has now stopped on the new boat to concentrate on winter overhaul of the laid up fleet.

In the last issue you were invited to name the plant described on p10. Unfortunately no answers were received, but the answer was Impatiens Fulva (Orange Balsam). Included in the next Issue:

It is becoming very difficult to predict, but these AGM information may be the most likely!
